ANTI-SALOON LAW.

Extension Favored by Tennessee Senate.

Bill Passed by Vote of Twenty Five to Five.

At Nashville, Tenn., by a vote of 25 to 5 the Senate put itself on record as favoring the extension of the Adams anti-saloon law to every city in the State which chooses to abolish its present charter and re-charter without saloons. The result was not accomplished without a fight. The bill had been in the hands of the Committee for ten days and under the rules should be called out of committee after five days. The temperance leaders claimed that an effort was being made to hold the bill up in committee. The Chairman Edgington notified Chairman Edgington that he intended to call the bill, but Edgington asked him not to do so, saying he would convene the committee. After voting down of an amendment by Senator Cox providing for submitting the saloon issue to popular vote in each of the cities affected and several other minor amendments, the committee adjourned. An effort was made in committee to postpone action.

Soon after the senate convened an effort to refer the bill to another committee failed, and the bill was put on its passage.

The Pendleton bill goes to the House, which is almost sure to pass it, despite the strenuous opposition of Gov. Patterson and other Democratic leaders.

If the bill becomes a law, Columbia, Clarksville and Mt. Pleasant will at once take advantage of it, but Nashville, Knoxville, Chattanooga and Memphis, will hardly ask for the repeal of their charters and re-incorporation. The fight for the repeal of the present Memphis charter will now proceed more actively than ever, for if a new charter is not enacted until after the passage of the Pendleton bill Memphis will come under the operations of the latter law and be deprived of saloons.

The House liquor traffic committee recommended the anti-jug bill for passage, to stop the shipment of liquor, beer, etc., into dry counties.

Denied Admission.

Mrs. Carrie Nation and two friends called at the White House on Thursday. They were not admitted.

May Study Tobacco Worms Of Kentucky.

Representative Leavy, of Iowa, champion of wild birds, led a winning fight in restoring to the agricultural appropriation bill a section relating to biological investigations, and appropriating $44,420 for the purpose of making a scientific study of the food and habits of Northern American birds and mammals, in relation to Agriculture, Horticulture and Forestry.

WILL NOT DOWN.

Political World Still Speculates on Brownsville Affair.

S. Y. dispatch to Charleston, Inquirer.

The political world continues to discuss the Brownsville affair. Interest in it will not down and that the action of President Roosevelt will be a great factor in the next Presidential campaign goes without saying. Political leaders are considering whether Mr. Roosevelt by his stand in the matter has succeeded in breaking the Solid South, without making great inroads upon the strength of his party in the North. Also, whether by any possibility, the erratic nature of the President may give rise to some other incident which will overshadow the Brownsville affair in importance. There are Republican leaders here who proceed upon the theory that the President is full of sensational precedents and therefore to conduct the administration from now until 1908 without any is impossible so far as he is concerned.

Democratic leaders here are giving much consideration to the political effects of the Brownsville affair.

BEVERIDGE

Says the Next Standard Bearer Of Democratic Party Approves His Child Labor Bill.

In his speech in behalf of his child labor bill Senator Beveridge presented a number of affidavits setting forth conditions in Southern cotton mills, and asserted that many children under twelve years were working in these mills. He said hearty commendation of the measure had been made by "the man who will be the next standard-bearer of the Democratic party," and also by the present President of the United States.

"I want to know about the endorsement of the next standard-bearer of the Democratic party," suggested Mr. Carmack.

"My dear," began Mr. Beveridge, "there are many things you want to know which I am not going to tell you."

Democrats Give Support.

The Democrats of the Indiana House will support a primary election bill and the two-cent railroad fare bill. The Hanna bill to authorize sheriffs to destroy gambling apparatus was reported for passage, as were also the bills placing a tax of $5,000 on loan sharks, fixing the life penalty for kidnapping for the purpose of ransom, and making the carrying of concealed weapons a felony. The Gannard "blind tiger" bill was reported unanimously for passage.

Two-Cent Fare Bill Passed.

At Little Rock, Ark., the Senate passed the Two-cent Railroad Fare Bill 32 to 1, amending it to take effect sixty days after passage.

LITTLE BLOSSOM

"Oh, dear! I'm so tired and homesick! I wonder why mamma don't come; she told me to wait up for her eyes, and I've waited up since I was home, she said she was going to see grandma; she lives by the river so bright; I expect that my mamma fell in there, and I'll have to wait till home tonight."

"I don't like to stay up here, without any fire or light, but I don't like to sleep up in heaven, I see 'em all twinkling and bright, I think I'll go down and meet papa, I hope he has stopped at the store, it's a great, pretty place, full of bottles, I wish he would stop here a while, and I'll have to wait till home tonight."

"Sometimes he is sick when he comes home, and he stands and falls up the stairs; and once, when he came in the parlor, he looked at my poor little sister, and I thought he was going to faint, and I hugged me up close to her breast, and I told her my poor little blossom, and I don't know what I said, but I don't know what I said, but I don't know what I said."

"But I remember that papa was angry, his face was so red and so wild, and I remember he struck at poor mamma, and I thought he was going to faint, and I hugged me up close to her breast, and I told her my poor little blossom, and I don't know what I said, but I don't know what I said, but I don't know what I said."

"But I remember that papa was angry, his face was so red and so wild, and I remember he struck at poor mamma, and I thought he was going to faint, and I hugged me up close to her breast, and I told her my poor little blossom, and I don't know what I said, but I don't know what I said, but I don't know what I said."

CALIFORNIA DELEGATION

Has Two Hours' Conference At White House.

After a two-hours' conference at the White House regarding the Japanese question on the Pacific coast, the California delegation in Congress authorized the following statement:

"The character of the discussion leads us to feel confident that a solution will be reached satisfactory to all concerned. The result of the meeting is that the delegation has telegraphed to the president of the San Francisco Board of Education and Superintendent of schools to come to Washington at once for a conference with the President and the Secretary of State."

The existing treaty between the United States and Japan will expire March 12. President Roosevelt has heretofore assured the members of Congress from California that he would endeavor to form a new treaty with the Japanese Empire which would meet with their entire approval and at the same time prove satisfactory to the Tokio Government.

EXPERT TESTIMONY

About Milk, Eggs, Meats and Oysters--Some Deteriorate Some Improve.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Government pure food expert, gave much interesting testimony concerning the deterioration of food-stuffs in cold storage before the House Committee on Agriculture.

He gave results he has obtained by experiments with all sorts of food-stuffs. Milk begins to deteriorate right away and so does cream. Eggs begin immediately. Fruits are improved and sometimes continues to improve for three months. Meat improves up to about six or eight weeks, but after three months for meat you can see that it has reached the maximum and then it begins to go down. I do not care how hard it is frozen, we find that meats do not taste as well and they do not smell as well, and every time the jury can pick that which has been kept over three months. Take our quail. We have quail a year old and we have a fresh quail cooked at the same time. Every time the jury can pick them out blind-folded.

Dr. Wiley stated that he is a thorough believer in cold storage, and believes that most foods improve when properly kept for a short time, but he said that the object of his experiments is to tell the public and particularly the cold storage people, how long they may safely keep the articles of food in storage. He has been unable to determine whether drawn or undrawn poultry keep the better.

He said that the oysters opened and shipped in buckets should be prevented from entering interstate commerce, as they are dead. "An oyster is dead when after it is opened," said Dr. Wiley, "and is not good. It loses its flavor."

In response to inquiries as to the advisability of freezing oysters to preserve them for shipment, Dr. Wiley said: "Oh, they ought not be frozen. That ruins them, and as soon as they thaw they are dangerous."

He urged that oysters should be shipped alive and in the shell, and said that the greatest outrage of the oyster trade is to soak oysters with fresh water and swell them up, making them look fat. He said oysters sent out in tin cans are all right, but in further denunciation of bulk oysters shipped in tubs and buckets he said: "They are either preserved with some preservative or are dangerously near the ptomaine line, one of the two."

Gelatin was denounced by Dr. Wiley, who said of it: "It is made of hides, of the scrapings from hides. These hides go into the tanners' vats, and these hides that smell to heaven are treated and trimmed and these trimmings are used to make gelatin. The marine hospital service found tetanus germs in gelatin."

Dr. Wiley said that the gelatin factories are the dirtiest in the world, that the hides used are treated with alkali, which is rubbed into them for shipment. The hides are scraped and trimmed and put in tanners' vats and the residue used for gelatin.

Bad End for Bad Man.

Eli Lykins, whisky peddler, came to a tragic end at Camp Christie, a lumber camp nine miles north of Jackson, on January 27. Lykins entered the home of Marion Adkins in a drunken condition and started to shoot up the place. He had shot one of Mr. Adkins' little girls when Adkins grabbed his gun and shot Lykins dead on the spot.

Persons interested in pure food should read in this issue "Expert Testimony" about milk, eggs, etc.

Some papers are having much to say about Jim Hedges of Jackson, prospecting for diamonds. We do not regard the matter of sufficient importance to occupy much time of space.

There is much uneasiness in the Sixth Appellate district toward Judge A. W. Young may become a candidate. The Advocate's Editor of last Wednesday was out at all state factory to the friends of the unelected candidate.

TO SUFFER FOR HIS SAKES.

"For unto you it is given, in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on Him, but also to suffer for His sake."—Philips 1:29.

This has often happened to men who, in defense of what they know to be right and for the good of a community, have had the courage to oppose evil, ostracism, threats, violence, or odiousness and indifference of friends are some of the fruits of such opposition. Again there are expressions of sympathy, cooperation and consciousness of duty done which repay for all anxieties.

NOT SINCERE.

John Skinn, candidate for Mayor of Lexington, in reply to questions by Anti-Saloon League, said he would, if elected, strictly enforce law against selling whiskey on Sunday or to minors, and gambling. His opponent, Mr. Wilkerson, accuses Skinn of insincerity, and gives certified copies of indictments against Skinn for each of these offenses, and says that he was indicted 25 times, and thinks Skinn is not a suitable man for the place, as he was guilty of these offenses while holding office of Constable of Lexington, some of them being committed ten years ago. Mr. Skinn replies that Mr. Wilkerson while Sheriff failed to execute laws which he had sworn to uphold. The temperance question is coming to the front.

DR. KIRKLEY'S PHILOSOPHY

The lie that screens you today will search you tomorrow.

No one can yield the larger virtue who yields to the smaller vices.

There is a radical relation between church-going and character growing.

One must not only be good but good for something.

Corruption on the inside means eruption on the outside.

The deadly blow of hate is a deathblow to the latter.

Better push your work than be pushed by it.

To direct your activities toward good is to correct your proclivities toward evil.

A friend may find fault in you while an enemy finds fault with you.

It is better to fall below a high mark than to exactly hit a low mark.

The gospel is not a curiosity for sinners but a cure for sin.

An instinct for righteousness becomes an insight into the right.

Extremes meet when a boy has become enough to fill his father's shoes.

Imitation of another is limitation of oneself.

When policy is put above principle the life grows rotten rather than grows.

Truth grips us with power while error grips us with poison.

The true purpose of discussion is not to rout an opponent but to reach the truth.

Dissipation always spells disappointment and despair.

Delight in duty softens its severity.

When the energies are unindulged, the path of life is hopelessly confused.

Whether at home or in Rome, do not as Rome does, but as right requires.

To one who is given to lagging should be compelled to hasten through life with the speed of a race horse.

Moodly feelings indicate many failings.

To stimulate another's talent is better than to strive with your own.

Whole-heartedness in worship makes a holy heart in the worshiper.

When we defy God and defy God we are facing the only "Yellow Peril."

ENFORCE THE LAWS.

The following questions put by the Anti-Saloon League of Lexington to the candidates for Mayor are very important, and the voters in any city before electing its officers have a right to know how said officers stand. The tide of moral reform is sweeping on and will sweep away the barriers.

The questions are:

"Will you, if elected, enforce the laws as they exist, and so long as they exist?"

1. In reference to the closing of all saloons on Sunday?

2. In reference to the sale of liquor on Sunday?

3. In reference to the hours for opening and closing the saloons?

4. In reference to the sale of liquors to minors and habitual drunkards?

5. In reference to gambling and other statutory laws and city ordinances intended to make Lexington a clean city physically and morally?

6. And you pledge yourself so far as this may come in your province, to employ the police and other departments at your command.

and fearlessly to the furtherance of these ends.

These questions are respectfully submitted by the League, representing as it does the law-abiding element of the city who have determined that the place in which they dwell where their children must be reared, shall be governed according to law.

Recent convictions and indictments in our Circuit Court should and we hope will receive prompt attention by our City Council. We have urged and will continue to urge obedience to law both by the guardians of the law and those receiving privileges by the law.

NOT DISCOURAGED.

We are not discouraged concerning the result of the conflict for the overthrow of the legalized whiskey traffic. Whiskey drinking in the home and in saloons has been a social custom of long standing, unquestioned, endorsed and practiced by many men who were prominent in their neighborhoods or towns. Changes in our community of social customs are not rapidly effected. In recent years there has been a quickening of conscience in regard to personal privilege and individual responsibility for others in connection with whiskey drinking. So pronounced has been that quickening that we candidly expect the complete legal reformation of this heinous, disgraceful, damning custom. The time is fast approaching when in our State, even in Lexington and Louisville, etc., the saloon will be legally prohibited. Even in some towns where it is now prohibited, men will evade the law, just as they evade or violate the law and moral obligation in stealing, gambling, lying and lust.

Class the writer, if you choose, as an enthusiast, a crank, a victim of his overwrought imagination, in regard to the saloon and all questions connected therewith, but he is determined to use his influence to effect the destruction of this agency for evil. He will continue to appeal to all citizens, in private walks of life and all citizens who are in office or aspiring to office with its honors and emoluments, that they open their eyes to the havoc wrought by the traffic. Politicians should read the "hand writing on the wall."

It is coming, yes it is coming. Shame on the Tennessee Governor and Democratic leaders of that State. Read "Anti-Saloon Law."

BE CAREFUL.

CIRCUIT COURT.

CONVICTED FOR MURDER.

Strother Hamilton, for murder of Wm. Redd, was on Wednesday found guilty and was given a pen sentence of 11 years. Both are colored.

ILLEGAL VOTING.

On Wednesday Chike Goodpastor was convicted for illegal voting. He was fined $50 and sentenced to jail for 10 days. An unusual incident in court occurred. Four of the resident preachers of this city were selected as jurors without objection and served. They were Revs. H. G. Turner, of the Methodist Church; G. A. Joplin and J. B. Menham, of the Presbyterian Churches, and J. R. Hobbs, of the Baptist Church. Scarcely do we hear of preachers serving on juries. We like it, for it gives them insight to real conditions of life, revealing new phases of life which they ought to know, shows what efforts are sometimes made to cover up or apologize for meanness, and brings wicked deeds to a greater publicity. Because a man is a preacher he does not cease to be a citizen.

Some amusement was occasioned in court last week in selecting a jury to try a man for false swearing. Rev. J. R. Hobbs was being questioned as a juror and "had not formed and expressed an opinion," "could give fair and impartial trial, etc." The defense excused him. Many smiled. Rev. Joplin was next examined, answering same questions. The defense accepted him. Then the smile was pronounced. The defense had evidently taken the hint, or "caught on."

Wm. Eubank, charged with petit larceny, was acquitted.

The case of J. T. Day against the Exchange Bank, in our Circuit Court, was continued to the next term of the Court. This case has been on the docket for more than 15 years and grew out of the sale of some of the depreciated stock of the bank to the plaintiff in which is involved about $6,000. The case has been continued by the plaintiff only once or twice, as shown by the record. The bank has employed the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals to defend the suit.

Great Tobacco Sales at Shelburne's Warehouse, Lexington, Kentucky.

Shelburne's Warehouse sold 30,000 lbs. of tobacco on Friday, Feb. 1, at prices ranging from 53 to 17c. The crop of Messrs Ed. Millum and Baxter, Whitesall, Ky., sold as follows: Two hundred pounds at $17, 300 lbs. at $15.75, 250 lbs. at $14.50, 450 lbs. at $14.25, 210 lbs. at $14.25, 70 lbs. at $13.50, 340 lbs. at $11.75, 570 lbs. at $11.25, 150 lbs. at $10.25, average for 2,620 lbs., $13.30. The entire sale, with the exception of some wet, damaged tobacco, sold at high prices.

Mr. Shelburne says that the competition is strong on the Lexington market, and that the prices being obtained speak for themselves, and advises the planters to bring on their tobacco as soon as they can get it ready, as he sees no reason to expect any better prices for tobacco in soft order.

Planters should take into consideration the fact that the cost of re-hydrating tobacco, in connection with the consequent loss in weight, amounts to about $2.50 per hundred.

Silas Shelburne & Son, Both Phones 1518.

Attorney in Court of Appeals.

On Thursday John A. Judy, of this city, was sworn in as an attorney to practice in the Court of Appeals.

PLUM LICK.

"Aunt" Sarah Crouch is very low with pneumonia. Mrs. Minnie Henry has same disease.

The groundhog never got a peep at his shadow in this vicinity Saturday. So far as we have heard no one saw the ground hog, but he whistled, stayed out all day, and as a result we are to have six weeks pretty weather. Wise men who have grown old and gathered wisdom among the environment of frontier life solemnly affirm that they have watched the ground hog's hole on February 2. They all tell the same tale. The ground hog comes out and looks at the sky with the air of a planter after he has just sown a forty-acre field of wheat and is anxious for a shower. On cloudy days he goes off on a foraging expedition, but if the sun is shining he retreats to his winter quarters and then it is six weeks before garden sowing can be safely left without a blanket spread over it.

A Worm.

On Friday Dr. Joe Jones found a black fever worm crawling near snow. He brought it as a curio for Facts and Observations. The worm was not a correct prognosticator of weather or the arrival would have been delayed.

The Olympia Sold.

J. C. Brunner, of St. Louis, has purchased of J. L. Runk, of Latour, Mo., the Olympia building, occupied by the postoffice, for $38,000.

Vice President Fairbanks and wife, who were raised on the farm and who own 6,000 acres of fertile soil, would have to go back to the country for a while, so they say.

Trains Delayed.

The Saturday night express due at 10:13 was late. From Shelbyville to Lexington it came over the Louisville Southern track. This was necessary because of a wreck on L. & N. four miles west of Lexington in afternoon. A theatrical company had come to Lexington on special train. The engine, with three men, returning to Louisville, left the track, tore up rails for 150 feet, turned over, fearfully mangled one of the men and injured the others. The boiler exploded and the engine is destroyed. L. & N. passengers were transferred. The C. & O. express west on Sunday afternoon was 4½ hours late.

If a passenger starts anywhere there is no probability that he will get there on time.

The writer was in Winchester Friday night expecting to attend to business in Lexington on Saturday morning. At the depot he was informed that train due before was expected at 11. We went by L. & E.

Huge Woven Wire Fence, the best fence on earth. Write for catalogue and prices to C. T. Flanders, R. F. D. 3, 304-11, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Burned to Death.

At Cleveland, O., John Burke called to see Miss Mary Gardner. A gasoline lamp exploded. He was burned to death and she seriously injured.

Harry Welch, ball player, has accepted a place at Waco, Texas, and will leave March 1st. He will play 2nd base and be captain of team. Douglas Harrison, 3rd here, also goes to Waco.

The Winchester Commercial Club gives a banquet on the evening of February 22 at Brown-Proctorin. Desha Breckinridge, Bennett Young and Judge Ed. C. O'Rear will respond to toasts.

Prewitt Upheld in Revoking the Mutual's License.

Judge Robert Stout, of the State Circuit Court, Friday held that the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, is not entitled to the relief sought in its petition filed several weeks since, in which it asked an injunction against H. R. Prewitt, Insurance Commissioner of Kentucky, to prevent his revocation of its license, and dismissed the petition. An appeal will be taken at once to the Court of Appeals of Kentucky to finally settle the law points involved in the case.

In the meantime the status of the company in Kentucky remains as it has been since the Commissioner took the first step to revoke its license to do business in the State; that is, it continues to do business here as it has always done. In order to permit this, the Circuit Judge granted a continuance of the temporary restraining order first entered on petition of the company.

Judge Stout delivered a written opinion in making his decision. It is said his decision is based upon the statute giving the Insurance Commissioner arbitrary power in the matter of admitting and excluding insurance companies from the Kentucky field.

Fires in 1906.

In the year 1905 there were 45 fires in the city, costing the city $502.25. In the year 1906 there were 14 fires in the city, costing the city $81.25 in the two years. This does not include in either year salary of Chief and Secretary.

Residence Sold.

H. Clay Turner has sold his high-street residence to Dan N. Young for $4,000. Possession will be given April 1st.

Lord be title—Ah, but your tedious class in this country have no titles. Miss Quick—Nonsense! What's the matter with "John," "Henry White," "Dusty Roads," and so on?—New Orleans Pleasantry.

THE COMMON ENEMY.

"What's the matter with all you swamplanders?" demanded Crittman. "You all appear to hate New-orleans and yet here's a decent sort of fellow."

"Hut!" snorted Salsbach, "the miserable clump brought his wife a 400 pound the other day, and now here's no peace in our homes."

HARD ON CLOTHES.

"You look so nice in your new fall suit," said Mrs. Browne, "don't you think you'd better come to church with me this morning?"

"Not on your life!" replied Mr. Browne, "it doesn't do a new suit any good to go to sleep in it."

THE PHARISEES.

"Did I understand you to say that the people who choose the narrow path only are the most narrow-minded?"

"Not exactly; I say the people who think they only choose the narrow path are the most narrow-minded."

Last week, Mr. Spencer, who is interested in establishing a cannery here went to Morehead, but will return and endeavor to perfect the enterprise.

The Cable Powers case will not be tried at this term of Scott Circuit Court.

To Poor House.

An Owensville press report in the Lexington Herald of Feb. 4 says Wm. T. Smoot, ex-County Attorney of Barth, has been adjudged without means of support, and by order of the County Judge sent to county poor house. Ah! Alas! The havoc of strong drink!

Chas Miller has rented a eleven stairs room in the Fizer building on Broadway and will move his printing office there.

New York Clearing-house banks for the past week held $12,634,100 more than legal reserve requirements.

Negro Stated for Important Office

The Roosevelt-Forker row over the Brownsville dismissal has taken a sensational turn through the declaration of an official close to the President to the effect that Ralph Tyler, a negro, would be appointed to a lucrative office in Ohio. He is mentioned in connection with the Surveyorship of Customs at Cincinnati, which pays $3,000 per annum. The Toledo and Cleveland surveyorships are also due to be filled and it is certain, according to the reports that he will receive at the hands of the President one of the three.

Tyler hails from Columbus and is a leader in Republican politics of the State. It is understood that he has been recommended both time and again by Senators Foraker and Dick for a place in the Consular service and has the backing of Booker Washington. The President, of course, never considered those recommendations seriously, and accordingly no place for Ralph has ever been forthcoming. Recently Ralph's recommendations have been called to the attention of the President, and it is pretty well settled that while he will not receive a Consular place, he is slated for one of the most lucrative offices in Ohio at the gift of the President. Senator Foraker's attack on the President for the dismissal of the negro troops is, of course, back of it all, and in this Southern politicians have claimed for years that while the President would appoint negroes to office in the Southern States he would not appoint them in those of the North. The President, therefore, if he sticks to his present determination to appoint Tyler, kills two birds with one stone.

Chew What You Know About and Know What You Are Chewing

There is real pleasure in chewing the best tobacco grown—where the best tobacco grows—in the famous Piedmont Country.

Only choice selections of this well-matured and thoroughly cured tobacco is used in making SCHNAPPS. That's why SCHNAPPS and others of the Reynold's brands, as shown by the Internal Revenue statistics for a fiscal year, made the wonderful growth of six and one-quarter million pounds, or a net gain of one-third of the entire increased consumption of chewing and smoking tobaccos in the United States.

Evidently, chewers cannot resist the flavor and they cheer SCHNAPPS because SCHNAPPS cheers them more than any other chewing tobacco, and every man that chews SCHNAPPS passes the good thing along—one chewer makes other chewers—until the fact is now established that there are many more chewers and pounds of tobacco chewed, to the population, in those States where SCHNAPPS tobacco was first sold than there are in the States where SCHNAPPS has not yet been offered to the trade.

SCHNAPPS is like a cup of fine Java coffee, sweetened just enough to bring out its natural, stimulating qualities. SCHNAPPS pleases all classes of chewers: the rich, because they do not find a chew that really pleases them better at any price; the poor, because it is more economical than the large 10c. or 15c. plugs and they get their money's worth of the real snappy, stimulating flavor so appreciated by tobacco lovers. All imitations contain much more sweetening than SCHNAPPS. They are made that way to hide poor tobacco improperly cured.

For the man who chews tobacco for tobacco's sake, there is no chew like SCHNAPPS.

Sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. Cuts. Strictly 10c. and 15c. Plugs

FACE THAT DOGS REASON.

Two Instances That at Least Show Remarkable Intelligence.

A most interesting discussion is going on in the papers on the above subject. Do dogs reason? This is the question. The other yes. So far the eyes seem to have the best of the argument. Here is an example that recently came under the notice of the writer. A friend has a dog that is growing old and fat, but not in the least stupid. He does not follow very well, and she takes him out very often on a strap. The other morning she was in a great hurry and rushed poor Fido, as we shall call him, along at a great rate. He did not like it at all, but had to come willy-nilly. Suddenly she felt the strap tighter and looked around to see Fido sitting on the pavement some feet back with an expression of the utmost obstinacy on his face. She went back and slipped his collar on. But Fido had learned a new trick. He had discovered that if he sat down suddenly and firmly the collar would slide off and three times while he was out he worked that trick. Each time there was the monkey sitting on the sidewalk with that look that said as plainly as words: "I won't be dragged along. No self-respecting dog would submit to such treatment!"

This same dog was at a military camp a couple of years ago, and he learned to distinguish the angle cut for the officers' mess. When one of them he rushed off to the right tent, and when the other peaked forth he scampered in the opposite direction. He was a great pet at both, and knew he would get tributes twice over. Think of a dog knowing angle cuts! Something some soldiers cannot imitate.

"John," said "Joe, 'Holler out 'you've been drinkin' up!"

"No dear," he replied, steady "I'm just drinkin' up the door know 'what makes you think that? Do I look like I've been drinkin'?"

"It doesn't make any difference whether you do or not, I know you've been drinkin'. You can't fool me!"

"No, I talk like a man 's been drinkin'!"

"That is immaterial. I am positive that—"

"Then if I don't act like a man 's been drinkin', nor talk like a man 's been drinkin', who's use you, wrongin' me like that? We marry, these what I and 'M' goin' out 't drink jus' for spite an' 'f any thing happens I'm remember you drove me to it. This 's what a man gets for havin' a wife. He can't 'preciate him! Boo!"

Then he wobbled out into the night, and his wife was left alone bitterly regretting that she had saved him from danger by knocking him down with the feather duster.

ADVICE FOR THE BRIDE.

Writer Says Let Hubby Have Occasional Reason to Get Out.

There are not a few women in the world who have a rooted idea that their husbands should be as much a home fixture as the domestic cat, and this little mistake on their part is an active agent in the propagation of matrimonial woes.

Man is essentially a creature of change, and monotony is the death blow of many a one-time fiery, burning passion. Consequently the wise woman, knowing this, will encourage her husband to spend an occasional evening out, recognizing that her company and that of his home will be better appreciated if sandwiched in between a night with his old chum or one spent at the much-maligned but innocent club meeting.

Early in married life a woman should recognize this fact and act accordingly. Instead of adopting an aggressive attitude when her husband suggests going out, she should smile sweetly, help him to get out and say: "I'm glad you are going out, dear. Don't hurry home," and when he does come it should be to find a smiling wife and a good supper.

This is the sort of marriage which is seldom a failure. The husband of such a wife is always in love with her, and has a habit of mentally contrasting her with the other wives of his acquaintance, much to her advantage.

There are many worse fellows than the one who seeks an occasional night out with his particular chums. Encourage him, little bride, and don't keep your bonnie eyes out when he takes you at your word. Never mind the example of your neighbor who has a husband of the first-class, homely order, says "Woman's Life. You do not want monotony to put the first touch of light on your still warm, glowing affection, and this assembly will happen if you do not restrain your passion for an unlimited dose of your husband's company."

ONE THING HE KNEW.

A certain former mayor of Manchester, Mass., and a certain former alderman, both of whom for the purpose of this story shall be nameless, were at words' points during the whole of their political careers, and indulged in many a wordy war. The mayor never had got beyond the high school in his educational career, and the alderman had snored off his schooling with the grammar grade, and neither ordered himself in his scholarship.

It happened one day that they engaged in an argument rather heated than usual. "See here," said the alderman at length, "I may not be much of a scholar, but there is one thing about it, I know enough not to spell Jesus with a small 'j'!"—Boston Herald.

KNOW HER DAD.

Mother—Yes, Ruth, the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Ruth—It's lucky that I'm a cannel, isn't it?

USE FOR SAGE'S MONEY.

Mrs. Russell Sage, it is learned, may be a generous patron of the government to establish a permanent women's art club in Brooklyn or Manhattan at a cost of $100,000 or more. Mrs. Sage has recently been showing a keen interest in women artists of Manhattan, who are struggling to make a livelihood in art. If Mrs. Sage should contribute it is probable that the scheme to raise $100,000 to erect a studio building near Prospect park will be enlarged to raise a much greater sum, probably $200,000 or $300,000.

Chew What You Know About and Know What You Are Chewing

There is real pleasure in chewing the best tobacco grown—where the best tobacco grows—in the famous Piedmont Country.

Only choice selections of this well-matured and thoroughly cured tobacco is used in making SCHNAPPS. That's why SCHNAPPS and others of the Reynold's brands, as shown by the Internal Revenue statistics for a fiscal year, made the wonderful growth of six and one-quarter million pounds, or a net gain of one-third of the entire increased consumption of chewing and smoking tobaccos in the United States.

Evidently, chewers cannot resist the flavor and they cheer SCHNAPPS because SCHNAPPS cheers them more than any other chewing tobacco, and every man that chews SCHNAPPS passes the good thing along—one chewer makes other chewers—until the fact is now established that there are many more chewers and pounds of tobacco chewed, to the population, in those States where SCHNAPPS tobacco was first sold than there are in the States where SCHNAPPS has not yet been offered to the trade.

SCHNAPPS is like a cup of fine Java coffee, sweetened just enough to bring out its natural, stimulating qualities. SCHNAPPS pleases all classes of chewers: the rich, because they do not find a chew that really pleases them better at any price; the poor, because it is more economical than the large 10c. or 15c. plugs and they get their money's worth of the real snappy, stimulating flavor so appreciated by tobacco lovers. All imitations contain much more sweetening than SCHNAPPS. They are made that way to hide poor tobacco improperly cured.

For the man who chews tobacco for tobacco's sake, there is no chew like SCHNAPPS.

Sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. Cuts. Strictly 10c. and 15c. Plugs

PROVE THAT DOGS REASON.

We instances that at least show Remarkable Intelligence.

A most interesting discussion is going on in the papers on the above subject. Do dogs reason? One side says no, the other yes. So far the evidence seems to favor the best of the argument. Here is an example that recently came under the notice of the writer. A friend has a dog that is growing old and fat, but not in the least stupid. He does not follow very well, and she takes him out very often on a strap. The other morning she was in a great hurry and rushed poor Fido, as we shall call him, along at a great rate.
He did not like it at all, but had to come willingly. Suddenly she felt the strap tighter and looked around to see Fido sitting on the pavement some feet back with an expression of the utmost obstinacy on his face. She went back and slipped his collar on. But Fido had learned a new trick. He had discovered that if he sat down suddenly and firmly the collar would slide off and three times while he was out he worked that trick. Each time there was the monkey sitting on the sidewalk with that look that says as plainly as words: "I won't be dragged along. No self-respecting dog would submit to such treatment!"

"This same dog was at a military camp a couple of years ago, and he learned to distinguish the single call for the officers' mess. When one when he rushed off to the right tent, and when the other pealed forth he scampered in the opposite direction.
He was a great pet at both and knew he would get tidbits twice over. Think of a dog knowing single calls! Something some subliminal cannot imagine.

"John," said Mrs. Habberston
"You've been drinking!"
"My dear," he replied, steadily
"I can't be drinking to the dog's health! make-up you think that? I don't like it! I'd been drinking!"
"It doesn't make any difference whether you do or not. I know you've been drinking. You can't look me!"
"No, I talk like a man when I been drinking!"

"That is immaterial. I am positive that—"
"Then if I don't act like man's been drinkin', nor talk like man's been drinkin', what's use you wrongin' me like that? I'm married, what I am! 'I got out' don't take drink just 're spite of 't' anything happens 't' me, remember you dressed me to it. 'Tis what a man gets 're spite of 't' can't prevent 'em! But!"
Then he wobbled out into the night, and his wife was left alone bitterly regretting that she had not saved him from danger by knocking him down with the feather duster.

ADVICE FOR THE BRIDE.

Writer Says Let Newly Weds Occasionally Eat Up Old Us.

There are not a few women in the world who have a rooted idea that their husbands should be as much a home fixture as the domestic cat, and this little mistake on their part is an active agent in the propagation of matrimonial woes.

Man is essentially a creature of change, and monotony is the death blow of many a one-time firebrand passion. Consequently the wise woman, knowing this, will encourage her husband to spend an occasional evening out, recognizing that her company and that of his home will be better appreciated if sandwiched in between a night with the old chums or one spent at the much-maligned but innocent club meeting.

Early in married life a woman should recognize this fact and act accordingly. Instead of adopting an aggressive attitude when her husband suggests going out, she should smile sweetly, help him to get out and say: "I'm glad you are going out, dear. Don't hurry home," and when he does come it should be to find a smiling wife and a good supper.

This is the sort of marriage which is seldom a failure. The husband of such a wife is always in love with her, and has a habit of mentally contrasting her with the other wives of his acquaintance, much to her advantage.

There are many worse fellows than the one who seeks an occasional night out with his particular chums.
Encourage him, little bride, and don't keep your home cross out when he takes you at your word.
Never mind the example of your neighbor who has a husband of the first-class hopelessly order, says Woman's Life. You do not want monotony to put the first touch of blight on your still warm, glowing affection, and this assuredly will happen if you do not restrain your passion for an unlimited dose of your husband's company.

ONE THING HE KNEW.

A certain former mayor of Manchester, Mass., and a certain former alderman, both of whom for the purposes of this story shall be nameless, were at sword's points during the whole of their political careers, and indulged in many a wordy-encounter. The mayor never had gone beyond the high school in his education, and the alderman had learned of his schooling with the grammar grade, and neither prided himself on his scholarship.
It happened one day that they engaged in an argument rather more heated than usual. "See here," said the alderman at length, "I may not be much of a scholar, but there is one thing about it, I know enough not to spell words with a small g!"

USE FOR SAGE'S MONEY.

Mrs. Russell Sage, it is learned, may be a generous patron of the government to establish a permanent women's art club in Brooklyn or Manhattan at a cost of $50,000 or more. Mrs. Sage has recently been showing a keen interest in women artists of Manhattan, who are struggling to make a livelihood in art.
If Mrs. Sage should contribute it is probable that the scheme to raise $50,000 to erect a studio building near Prospect park will be enlarged to raise a much greater sum, probably $100,000 or more.

CAMMACK UNIT BILL

This Bill is Before The Court Of Appeals.

The constitutionality of the Cammack Unit Bill was ably argued before the Court of Appeals on the 17th and 18th of January, and a decision of the Court is expected any day. This was a special hearing given to Henry county, Georgetown, and Stanford, as similar points in each case were involved.

The liquor interests had the best counsel they could procure in Senator Carroll, of Louisville district, Attorney Bird of Louisville, and Geo. B. Softy, of Stanford. These lawyers made the best possible argument from their standpoint, and we thus wasted a lot of energy. The temperance people were ably represented by Senator Cammack, author of the bill, Attorney Ebleen, of Frankfort, and Judge Carroll, of New Castle.

The special points argued, the worthy note, were that the bill is not a county unit bill, but a unit regulating bill. The appellants pointed out the fact that there is a conflict between units, and that section of the constitution did not purport to permit a priority of either, that the language "precinct, district, town or county," rightly interpreted means that each has an equal right with the other. The court asked the speaker that since the very existence of units, the smaller within the larger, necessitated a conflict, to point out to the court which should have the priority. Attorney Bird had to confess that the county has the largest should have the priority, but that the right to secede would have to be granted to the lesser units.

It is this point of priority that will have to be decided by the court, and we have no doubt as to the decision. The assertion of Mr. Bird was a confession that the county ought to have the right to control any unit in its hands. This point was ably and minutely got forth in Attorney P. M. McRobert's brief of Stanford, which showed that the unit in section C1 of the constitution gave a right to the right to secede, which the units named in the constitution should have the priority. Judge Carroll re-inforced this point by showing that the police power, placed in a democracy and was a people's inalienable right to protect themselves in any way they should see fit.

On the whole it was a battle royal, the outcome of which will remain much in the future history of theucky's political, commercial and social life. We are hoping, and looking for the best. Kentucky Issue.

Liquor And Accidents.

The appalling number of frightful accidents which have occurred recently cause thoughtful people to consider their causes. At last the governments of the world are waking up to the cause of many, as the following facts show:

"The imperial insurance department of the German government has just issued a circular to employers of labor declaring that the use of alcohol by employees contributes in a most remarkable manner to the number of accidents, and that it brings about premature invalidity. The department urges that workmen with drunken habits be excluded altogether from workshops or at least kept from employment where there is a danger of accident. It is urged that alcoholic beverages be excluded entirely from workshops and that employers should give their employees advice to abstain from drink. The department offers to supply temperance literature free of expense to employers to distribute among their workmen. This is another evidence of the remarkable manner in which the use of light wines and beer has solved the temperance problem in Germany, as American beerophiles are wont to exclaim."

Sells Loose Tobacco.

Attention of tobacco growers is called to the Growers Tobacco Warehouse, of Lexington, which sells loose tobacco. If the tobacco is banded in wagons it shows to better advantage; but if it is to be shipped we recommend that it be prized light, 700 to 800 pounds to the hoghead. We draw shipments from depot free. Free lodging for drivers and places for teams overnight is provided.

Our terms for sale are 2 per cent commission and 15 cents per hundred pounds, and pay $1.00 for empty hogheads.

Ayer's Pills greatly aid the Cherry Pectoral in breaking up a cold.

Thirty years rain record for January has been passed, giving a precipitation of 12 inches of rainfall.

Having passed through such a trying ordeal during the past month with a rainfall of 12 inches February is naturally looked forward to to furnish the real winter weather and put an end to the rain for a time at least. The officers at the Weather Bureau have issued a bulletin containing the data of temperature covering the month of February for a period of thirty-four years. The record follows:

The mean or normal temperature for the month during this period has been 37 degrees, the warmest month being February of 1882, when an average of 48 degrees was reached, while the coldest month was February of 1895, with an average of 27 degrees. The warmest day in the thirty-four years was February 19, 1878, when the thermometer marked 78 degrees, and the coldest day was February 9, 1895, when the mercury stood at 14 degrees below zero.

GREAT CITIES OF THE WORLD.

Eternal Paris Pre-empt Among the Sisterhood.

New York may in time also become a great world city. If it does there will be two for eternal Paris will continue. But even now New York, in being the greatest city of the Americans, has achieved enough glory for a city whose site was the camping ground of savages when Paris was hoary with age.

Berlin is a great German city, but it is nothing more. It is the tower and the hand of Germany—hardly a brain and heart—but its influence is not great beyond the German empire. It is in all things German, and a little provincial in being only North German—staid, rather staid, but so beautiful as it is substantial, so cultured as it is rich, still and by tradition, dreaming of war and knowing more of science than of art, more of utility than of beauty. It is ambitious, very well content with itself and progressive after its own fashion.

Vienna is typically Austrian, which is to say South German. It has not even tried the various races of capital it is. It is the fit seat of a feudal empire that has endured for the close of the epoch to which belonged. It is filled in times of use, which are gilded by gentility and culture, but which are none the less potent to limit its progress and its advancement. It enjoys itself in pleasing manners of gaiety but have come down from an older age. It is finished, accomplished, rested and it is decaying and giving as in the world, according to the inevitable law, to more progressive calls. It has not the adaptability or the philosophy of Paris; it continues more Catholic than Rome, more conservative than Britain, more feudal than remotest Siberia, does not change as the world and the times change, and its chief interest is that it remains as a living embodiment of a civilization that in other lands has died. It is a greater city to Toledo and Venice, but it is no sense a great world city. And so, after viewing the cities, it might be said that the village dweller in Paris is a village dweller. —Atlantic Monthly.

LAND STOCK AND CROP.

John Williams, of Stanford, Neb., on Sunday night shipped from this and adjoining counties 11 jacks, 3 jennets and 1 stallion. Mr. Williams was once a resident of this county and lived on Brush Creek. He was accompanied by Shirley Mason, son of Jas. Mason, of this county, who goes to Nebraska to live.

At Georgetown on Saturday tobacco growers pledged 1,520 acres of their 1907 crop to the Equity Tobacco Association. In part Senator Cantrill said: "An enterprising Wall street formerly decried the price of our tobacco. At Winchester was sounded the death knell of that custom. Shall the American Tobacco Company set the price of all the material raised by the sweat of your brow or will you now take the right to make it? I believe you will stand by the traditions of Kentucky and never surrender."

Protest.

Many Ohio Republicans are protesting against the contemplated appointment of a negro, Ralph Tyler, for Surveyor of the Port of Cincinnati.

Joe. Abney, indicted in Lee county for complicity in murder of J. B. Marcum, and whose bond was formerly forfeited, has furnished another bond signed by James Hargis, S. J. White and Elbert Hargis.

Good Receipt for Rats.

A farmer who has tried the experiment says: "If you will sprinkle sulphur on the barn floor and through your corn as you gather there will not be a rat or mouse bother it. I have done this for several years and have never been bothered with rats or mice. In stacking hay or corn, sprinkle a little on the ground and on each load, and my corn for three rats or mice can't stay there. A pound of sulphur will be sufficient to preserve a large bin of corn. It is good for stock and will not hurt the corn for bread."

Stockton's Tailor Shop.

The only up-to-date shop in the city. Here you get the best clothing, pressing and neat repairs work done.

Strother Thomas, Manager. Phone 225.

Warehouse Company Organized.

The tobacco growers of Clay county have organized a stock company under the name of the Clark County Equity Warehouse Company. The company organizes with a capital stock of $50,000, with $30,000 paid up.

This association is entirely separate and distinct from the Clay County Board of Control of Society of Equity. The immediate purpose is to assist the board in warehousing this year's tobacco crop, and to provide permanent warehouse for the future.

IF YOU TOUCH your tongue to ALUM

and look in the glass—you will see the effect—You can't help puckering—it makes you pucker to think of tasting it.

By the use of so called cheap Baking Powders you take this puckering, injurious Alum right into your system—you injure digestion and ruin your stomach.

AVOID ALUM

Say plainly—

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Royal is made from pure, refined Grape Cream of Tartar—Costs more than Alum but you have the profit of quality, the profit of good health.

DEATHS.

PENN.—Joseph M. Penn, second wealthiest man in Scott county, died at Georgetown on Saturday night.

VAN PELT.—Wm. Van Pelt, aged 90, for many years a prominent church worker of Lexington, died Wednesday at Indianapolis.

KEMPER.—George W. Kemper died at his home near Millersburg, Ky., on Monday morning, February 5, 1907. Full particulars were not obtainable as we wrote this. He was alone feeding his stock. The town was notified without him. The ladies notified neighbors. They found him lying dead in the snow. The supposition is he died suddenly. His body arrived here on Tuesday at 12:25 and was taken direct to the Christian Church, where Rev. H. D. Clark conducted the funeral service. Burial was in Macphail. For many years he and family lived in this county. He was a most excellent citizen, a Christian gentleman, learned in God's word, devoted to the service of the Lord's house. Such men are greatly missed. He leaves a wife, four sons and two daughters, all well known and highly respected. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.

For Rent.

Cottages and dwellings on following streets:

Wm. Elm, and Harrison Avenue.

Also 15 acres improved land in suburbs of Mt. Sterling.

For either place, apply quick to T. F. Rogers.

New Business.

Our city is to have another meat and grocery store. Marion French has rented the room, corner of Mayville and Court streets, which has for many years been used as a saloon. He has had the room renovated and has bought fixtures and stock of groceries. We wish him success. We are pleased to see this old landmark of our city converted into uses that nourish and perpetuate the body instead of killing it, and we hope to see every building used as a saloon dedicated to a business that is helpful.

ENGINE BLOWS UP.

Three Killed, One Mortally Wounded.

On yesterday word came to this city at 2 o'clock that while a C. & O. freight train was running between Pinegrove and Colby, beyond Winchester, the boiler had exploded. Three men were killed and one mortally wounded. Names of men and further particulars were not obtainable at depot in this city.

Leg Broken.

On Thursday Mrs. Andy Chas. shipped on the icy pavement near her home on Locust street, fell and broke her leg just above the ankle.

It is said that the Union City Lumber Co., of Grand Rapids, contemplate erecting a cement plant in Menefee county.

MOTHERS READ THIS

DAUGHTER OF C. W. STUMP

Mrs. C. W. Stump, of Canton, Ohio, writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol. Our little daughter was pale, thin and sickly."

"We tried various medicines, but without any benefit whatever, and she could not take cod liver oil or emulsions, as they nauseated her and upset her stomach."

"Learning that Vinol contains all the medicinal and strength-giving properties of cod liver oil, but without the disagreeable oil, we decided to try it, and the results were marvelous, so quickly was she restored to health and strength."

We have never sold a medicine equal to Vinol for delicate children. W. S. Lloyd, Druggist.

Forms Partnership With Head of Great Financial Institution.

William K. Oliver, of Knoxville, Tenn., whose bid to construct the Panama canal has been accepted, contingent upon his associating himself with one or more responsible contractors satisfactory to the Government, said that the syndicate he is forming "will certainly meet with the approval of President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft."

Mr. Oliver authorizes the Associated Press to say that he has already entered into partnership with Frederick C. Stevens, President of the Commercial National Bank, of New York, who was recently appointed Superintendent of Public Works of the State of New York.

P. S. The above was taken from Courier-Journal on Wednesday. Thursday's paper emphatically by direct authority from White House contradicts the above. Reporters should quit guessing.

Course of Gulf Stream Has Materially Changed.

The fact that the gulf stream has made important changes in its course is announced by the gulf division of the hydrographic office. These changes are noted between the time the stream leaves the north coast of South America until it enters the Atlantic.

Capt. Soley has found evidence of a submarine oil well about 200 miles south of the Louisiana coast, the surface of the water indicating oil from the bottom of the gulf.

Dyspepsia is a national ailment. Blacklock Blood Bitters is the national cure for it. It strengthens stomach membranes, promotes flow of digestive juices, purifies the blood, builds you up. 30-4

Panama Steamer Unloads Supplies

The Panama railroad steamer Advance, enroute to New York, landed supplies at Kingston for the earthquake sufferers. The Chief of Commissary from the Canal Zone was in charge of the provisions and tents. Fifty-seven passengers were turned to Kingston, all of whom were canal laborers returning to their homes in Panama to look after their families. Our lighter load of provisions was emphasized in the bay and lost. The Advance left tons of provisions on the dock.

Released on Bond.

At Louisville Judge Joseph Pryor handed down his opinion on the motion for bail on behalf of Dr. Sarah Murphy, holding that the case was buildable and fixing the bond at $1,000. She figured in death of an unfortunate girl.

CAN BE HEARD ONE MILE.

Photograph invented by a Frenchman Has This Quality.

A photograph which can be heard a mile away is the new French invention, the ephone, says the Musical Age. The sound is produced by the use of what are called speaking flames, and the principles governing the method were first explained in 1903 by G. C. Porter before the London Physical society.

Mr. Porter found that if a tuning fork be struck and then held in the flame of a Bunsen burner the sound is perceptibly increased. The maximum of sound intensity occurs when the fork is held where the flame is hottest.

The French inventor, G. Lande, uses a record which has the sound vibrations marked not in depth, but in length, and the stylus travels horizontally, like a pendulum. The stylus separates the gas chamber into two parts and the gas then passes on to the burners. The vibrations of the disk open and close the gas opening, causing the flow to vary.

The sound is so intense that it can be heard a mile away. It can be lessened by regulating the burner, but the power of sound is found to be always proportional to the energy given out during combustion.

CIPHER MARKS UNPOPULAR.

"The cipher price mark, the tag not marked $1.15 but 'P15ch,' is getting to be a thing of the past," said a jeweler. "The public mistrusts it. There is nothing that wins the confidence of the public like a price mark in big, plain figures."

"Most cipher price marks are easily read. They have for their key, as a rule, the sentence 'I push trade.' The 'P' is 1, the 'ch' 2, and '3' and so on down to the 'e,' which stands for 9. Thus '8225' in cipher would be 'Spch.'"

"I guess are useful for firms that give long credit, for such firms must naturally ask more from a six months' customer than a spot cash one. But they are very unpopular things. They arouse universal mistrust."

PREVENTS SHIP'S ROLLING.

A German engineer claims to have discovered an efficient method of preventing the violent motion of a ship at sea. The invention consists of a kind of turbine fitted vertically to the ship's keel. When set in motion the turbine counteracts the ship's tendency to roll from side to side. An old torpedo boat was fitted with the apparatus for a trial trip in rough weather off the mouth of the Elbe. The ship rolled to the extent of nine degrees, but after the turbine was set in motion she only rolled one degree. The result was attained without any reduction of seaworthiness and the ship's buoyancy was unaffected.

CHARGE ADMITTED.

A husband was being arraigned in court in a suit brought by his wife for cruelty. "I understand, sir," said the judge, addressing the husband, "that one of the indignities you have showered upon your wife is that you have not spoken to her for three years. Is that so?"

"It is, your honor," quickly answered the husband.

"Well, sir," thundered the judge, "why didn't you speak to her, may I ask?"

"Simply," replied the husband, "because I didn't want to interrupt her." Pittsburgh Press.

SAFER.

IN THE CURIO HALL.

"It's just scandalous the way the 'Barned Lady' is looking herself up and down these days," remarked the Wild Man from Horace. "I should think he'd be afraid of delirium tremens."

"Oh, no, he considers himself safe," replied the Living Skeleton. "He's married to the Snake Charmer, you know."

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many a Mt. Sterling Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Mt. Sterling readers.

Mollie A. Power, of Main street, Richmond, Ky., the well-known ladies' tailor, says: "For seven years I suffered almost continuously from kidney troubles, all the symptoms usual to such cases manifesting themselves. I was unable to find anything in the large number of remedies which I tried that seemed at all likely to do me any good, and one by one I gave them up. Finally I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills in a way that made me believe they must be good and I got a box. They helped me from the first and I take keen pleasure in this opportunity to state my belief in Doan's Kidney Pills."

Plenty more proof like this from Mt. Sterling people. Call at F. C. Duerson's drug store and ask what customers report.

LIKE A LIGHTNING CHANGE.

In some parts of the West Indies the negroes speak with a brogue. They are descended from the slaves of the Irish adventures who accompanied the Spanish explorers. An Irishman arriving at a West Indian port was accosted by a negro fruit vendor with "The top of the morning to ye, an' would ye be after wantin' to lay a bit of fruit, son?" The Irishman looked at him a moment.

"An' how long have ye been here?" he asked.

"Grand on three months, or hon-der," said the vendor, thinking of the time since he had left his inland home.

"Three months, is it? Only three months an' as black as that? Faith, I'd not land."

COMPENSATING ADVANTAGE.

"They say you are but the servant of the trusts," said the reproving friend.

"Well," answered Senator Sorghum, "the position has its advantages. Of course, it's more agreeable to be the boss, but after all the servant gets the one the grand jury won't offend."

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals, there is no influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in drawing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. J. C. Rogers, of Buffalo, N. Y., took time by the forelock, as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harmful criticism and all opposition that might otherwise be based on the ground that he was now or was ever a composition. Furthermore, from the fact that he has given every bottle of his medicine, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drug. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents. Their ingredients are all of vegetable origin, and are of the most valuable extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of disease, because highly digestible from its tendency to produce a purging for stimulants. Dr. Rogers' glycerine, which of itself is a valuable purifier in many cases of chronic constipation, being a superior demulcent, antispasmodic, and soothing nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal Root, which Dr. Rogers' Cherry-bark and Bloodroot, contained in Golden Medical Discovery. Dr. Rogers' Cherry-bark and lung ailments attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Dr. J. C. Rogers, of New York, Pa., author of the famous "Discovery" for the cure of all the only bronchial, throat and lung ailments, but also of chronic, but in all various forms wherever located.

"TOMB OF THE CHRISTIAN."

Peccator Burial Place Erected by Monarch in Algeria.

The Tomb of the Christian in Algeria is a pyramid on the summit of a hill more than 700 feet high, at the edge of the sea, says the Autocrat. It dates back to before the time of St. Paul, having been built by order of Julia II., the king of Mauritania, as a burying place for himself and his wife, Cleopatra, the daughter of Cleopatra and Mark Antony. The only daughter of Julia and his wife was Drusilla, who married Festus, the governor of Judea in the time of St. Paul. The tomb can be entered by a low doorway beneath one of the four false doors. These have moldings on them of a cruciform shape and may account for the title, "The Tomb of the Christian." The passage within the pyramid winds round and eventually leads to two chambers shut off from it by folding doors, which can be moved up and down by levers. The tomb must have been filled at an early date, for centuries ago, though some think that by excavating in a downward direction it might still be possible to discover the burying places of the king and queen, supposing the two chambers, like the false doors outside, to be a blind. Doubtless, the younger Cleopatra had brought the idea of making a royal mausoleum in the shape of a pyramid from Egypt. Portions of a marble statue of Egyptian design were found at the church, suggesting that an Egyptian colony may once have existed there. There are two other similar monuments in Algeria, in the provinces of Oran and Constantine, respectively, the latter being considerably older than the Tomb of the Christian, which, however, is the only one referred to in ancient writings.

BIRDS' COURTING COLORS.

The primary use of the flashes or bright colors exhibited by birds in flight was probably for purposes of courtship. In "displaying" before their mates birds almost always drop their wings and expand their colored ruffs, thus showing off to full advantage the conspicuous colors or markings.

It is interesting sometimes to note the tricks which the males of various kinds of birds have acquired in order to display all their charms. Pigeons, for instance, are very magnificent in front, with rainbow gloss upon the throat and breast; and these are fully displayed in the act of cooing, when the male bird sweeps toward the female on tiptoe, with head erect and throat expanded.

But the pigeon also very handsomely behind, with silver-blue band and broad, black-barred tail. So, he cannot display these when standing on tiptoe facing his mate, he prompts round at the conclusion of his coo, and gives her a chance of admiring his back view.

TOO OBSTRUCTIVE.

The woman who was enjoying a drive in the country pointed with indignation to a levy of white butterflies which was flying around and around in a dizzy circle. "Aren't they lovely?" she asked, enthusiastically.

Her companion grunted: "They may look lovely to you, but the farmers hate 'em an' call 'em cabbage butterflies. They seem harmless enough, but their larvae devour cabbages with enormous rapidity; hence their name."

When the farmer sees an unusual quantity of white butterflies hovering around he looks to his cabbages. He knows he will find no tracks of little worms on them, and that it is only by the most strenuous measures he can save them. This year there have been flocks of the white butterflies, and it may mean that we are to go cabbageless this winter. At any rate, if you buy any cabbages, snuff them a good long while in salt and water before using them."

TO A HIGHER COURT.

Harry is the son of a lawyer who talks shop a good deal at home. He had been naughty and his mother, after getting him into a back room upstairs, approached him with a slipper upon which she had seemed a fine grip.

"Hold on, son," the boy howled. "I'm going to carry this case up, and you ain't got no right to evening judgment before we get a decision from pat."

ONE OF THE NICE, QUIET KIND.

Jones—My wife has lost her voice. She can't speak above a whisper. Smith—"That kind of a wife is worth having."

HIS APPEARANCE IN UNIFORM.

What One Man Thought of It and What His Father Did.

Many men and almost all women are strangely drawn toward a uniform. The first day on his beat the officer of the law need not go hungry or thirsty, and the soldier has always been all the rage. But there are exceptions who do not doze on uniforms. Seated in a local cafe a few days ago was a prominent citizen of Massachusetts waiting for a man whom he had no reason to suspect would enter and, dispensing the subject of uniforms, he said:

"When the late Gov. Russell was first elected I was invited to become a member of his staff. My father, who was getting along in years, was strongly opposed to it; argued that it would cost a great deal more in money, time and indignation than it was worth and he wasn't far from right. However, I became a colonel and one evening after I'd been with the governor at some kind of social fracas near my town I drove home. I'd been dined and wine and was rather proud of my appearance, and as my father had never seen me in all my glory I called him out into the hall. He came, sleepily rubbing his eyes."

"What do you think of me?" I asked, thrusting out my chest.

"At first I thought you were a policeman," he replied, but now I've looked you over I think you're a d-d fool." Providence Tribune.

AT THE MARRIAGE BUREAU.

"Here am I, waiting two hours—growing older every minute—wish they'd hurry."

A COLOBLOODED OPINION.

"When a man loses his money," remarked the cynic, "he finds out who his friends are."

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax "it is a wise conception. When a man loses his fortune he says the time he used to spend shaking hands and listening to hard-luck stories, and gets a chance to make money."

AMEER TO TRAVEL IN POMP.

The forthcoming tour through India of the ameer of Afghanistan will be conducted with great pomp and ceremony. It is the first time that the ameer will have left his own country and he will take with him an imposing retinue of some 1,500 persons.

POLITICAL CHAT.

"I expect the successful candidate will be fearfully tired after the election is over."

"Yes, but they can't stand it. They won't be half so tired as the unsuccessful candidates will be." Detroit Free Press.

THE VERY REASON.

Mr. Nurich—What! You want to marry my daughter? Why, you ain't able to support yourself.

Young Nurich—Quite so. That's the very reason I gave to my family for wanting to marry your daughter.

OVERSHADOWED.

"So your luck was a disappointment."

"Yes," answered the author. "It was the publisher's fault. Everybody said it wasn't new or clever or original as the advertisement."

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Bay—Here's ver-bill for repairing fur furniture.

Smith—Is it left needed?

Bay—Yes, it's needed. It's de chairs and a sofa.

ITS NAME IS VALUE.

"I pledge you my honor, sir, to repay the loan."

"How much do you want? Thirty cents?"—Baltimore American.

MAN OF MODERATE MEANS.

One Use for Which He Would Like to Have a Little More Money.

"I wouldn't want," said the man of moderate means, "to be as rich as Kravus; I wouldn't even want money enough to make me lazy; I think great riches, that is, great, would be just for most of us, but I really would like to have money enough so that I could wear any sort of clothes I wanted in any sort of weather. As it is, it's like this:

"My stock of clothes is limited. I have enough to make me presentable in fair weather but no reserve of such clothes and of course I can't afford to take chances with what I've got, and so the weather is always an object of concern to me."

"Shall I wear my good clothes?" I say to myself, as I look out at the sky on a lovely morning, or shall I put on my old ones? I don't want to wear my old clothes if it's going to clear off and I can't afford to wear my good clothes if it's going to rain. In this state of mind doesn't help me in my judgment, for a man can come closer to guessing right on things in which he is not personally interested than he can on things in which he is."

"So sometimes I start out with my good clothes on days that turn out to be rainy, though often I wear my old clothes on days that turn out to be sunny when I might just as well have worn my good ones, necessity naturally leading to make one overhauls."

"But still, I can't afford to take a chance."

"I wouldn't want to be as rich as Jon Japhet Astor, nor even as old man Jackson, but I would like to have money enough so that I could wear any sort of clothes I wanted in any sort of weather."—New York Press.

PIONEER OF ELECTRICITY.

The learned Ampere—whose name is used more frequently every day in these times of electric traction—has been dead for 20 years, and a memorial tablet in his honor is shortly to be unveiled at Lyons. He is probably better known to most of his countrymen for his absence of mind than for his scientific achievements.

He it was (though Newton is often said to have done the same thing before) who cut a big and little hole in his door for the cat and the kitten to go through. He it was who dipped his biscuit in the inkpot and thought the wine rather bitter; who while examining the markings on a pebble took out his watch to look at the time, but put the pebble in his pocket and threw the watch away. There are scores of such tales about Ampere. He, indeed, thought little of anything but his scientific pursuits, neglecting his health and his fortune and leaving behind a legacy without which half the electrical inventions of today would have been impossible. He certainly merits a commemorative tablet.

MANUSCRIPT'S TRAVELS.

"Here is a manuscript of mine," said the author, "which has been going round the rounds of the magazine offices so long that if an editor were to accept it in an unguarded moment I should feel that I had lost an old friend."

"Why, it has even crossed the ocean and returned home," said shipwreck. It represents $10 worth of stamps to me, not to mention nine gallons of 'midnight oil' and 88 worth of typewriting. But its journey isn't ended yet—not yet! I'm taking it to a tailor now to have it cleaned and pressed and the ragged edges trimmed, and then I'll give it another whirl!"

AS A LAST EXTREME.

Once a number of legal lights in Washington were gathered in a smoking room of a lawyers' club, when the talk turned to a discussion of the various law-layers. "With the average man," remarked one disciple of Blackstone, "seems only too ready to assume we are all liars—a very unjust position, it seems to me. Do we not sometime tell the truth?" he asked of his neighbor, a well-known criminal lawyer.

"Certainly," promptly responded the latter. "We will do anything sometimes to win a case."

A COMMENTARY.

Knicker—Thrice armed is he who has this quarrel just.

Boatman—I suppose that means he has to take the girl three boxes of candy to make up.
